

VALENTINE'S SHOW FEATURES COMEDY in "LOVE, RELATIONSHIPS and OTHER CONFUSING THINGS" at Black Mountain Center for the Arts

Returning by popular demand for a second themed show this winter at the Black Mountain for the Arts is Acts of Renewal duo Jim and Carol Anderson-Shores. They will present a collection of their most popular theatre pieces in Love, Relationships and Other Confusing Things on Valentine's evening, February 14 at 7:30 pm.

"Love, Relationships and Other Confusing Things" explores various chapters of relationships, bringing to life the hilarious but very true - to - life conflicts, issues, and crazy moments that comprise the journey of life, especially for couples. From communicating with the opposite sex to dealing with exasperating family members to renewing the romance when the flame's just about sputtered out, Acts of Renewal performances touch these issues through comedy and insight in a refreshing evening of quality entertainment.

Acts of Renewal, a national touring theatre company, is comprised of professional actors Jim and Carol Anderson-Shores. Their material has been aired on PBS; they have a long-standing reputation of excellence in live theatre.

Jim and Carol are based in Black Mountain, NC, but tour extensively throughout the country performing at arena marriage events and relationship conferences as well as at colleges and universities.

Gale Jackson, Executive Director of the Black Mountain Center for the Arts comments, "Jim and Carol provide the very best of live, original theater for our audiences. Their performances are always sold out for us. After their "Rediscovering Christmas" production in December, we couldn't wait to book them again. Luckily they had one date available in February – Valentine's Day!. We encourage couples to celebrate their evening by having dinner in one of the many fine restaurants in Black Mountain and then coming here to enjoy Jim and Carol's performance that will connect humor and drama around the issues of love."

Tickets for the evening are $20.00 per couple. Reservations are highly recommended. For more information contact BMCA at 828/669-0930 or www.blackmountainarts.org.
